Reading One Stop, stops at SEC

South East Coachworks secured the contract for the Reading One Stop Bus last month. This will be the eighth SOS conversion carried out by SEC, so we've had our fair share of experience. We collected the bus from Reading Borough Council earlier in October and we set straight to work on stripping the interior. The bus has a very strict specification and all materials must comply with the regulations set for medical use as well as compliment the colour schemes. The bus is to include table and seat areas, TV's, sinks, fridges, two treatment booths complete with treatment chairs and a bathroom to name a few. Watch this space for the completed bus!

This bus conversion is child's play!

Working on Wheels came to us with their Play, Talk, Read bus for a refurbishment of both the interior & exterior. The new bus will feature extra storage space, new flooring on both upper and lower deck areas and wall carpets will be replaced with a funky glitter vinyl. As well as this, our signage department will be applying new vinyl graphics to the exterior for a brighter, modern look. With mojo restored, this revamped new bus will be back out on the streets shortly.

SEC pulls the strings for Athena Puppets

South East Coachworks collected Ms Athena Vassilakis' Routemaster bus from her home in East London and bought it back to the workshop where firstly a full mechanical check took place. The trimming department at SEC transformed the old seats into something a bit more exciting with a variety of vinyl and promptly re-upholstered the seats throughout the upper and lower deck. Athena is delighted with their shiny new bus.
